Connect Your Community

In January, the Canton Public Library embarked on a strategic planning process to help us determine where we should focus our resources over the next three years. We are happy to announce that our planning has concluded with the following outcomes:

We have developed a new mission statement: The Canton Public Library connects your community.

We also have new core values and strategic objectives, presented in a separate piece inside this newsletter.

All of this planning has given us a fresh view of what's important to you, the user, and helped us develop new and better ways to meet your needs, despite our reduced budget. We will continue to solicit your ideas and feedback as we look for the best ways to serve you. To see more in-depth information on our planning process and outcomes, please visit www.cantonpl.org/strategicplan09.

Ways the Canton Public Library Connects Your Community

Inside Connections, you'll see some of the ways CPL connects the community. Here are just a few highlights:

We connect you to resources, like the information contained in the Tough Times Library Lifelines brochure, available at the Reference Desk or online at www.cantonpl.org/blog/tough-times.

We connect you to librarians for one-on-one reference assistance by appointment.

We connect you to your community with Everything Canton, online forums and listings for local businesses and topics, as well as classes, programs and gathering space.

We connect you to technology with new classes in social media.

Living Library

The Canton Public Library is starting a Living Library, a kind of Everyone Canton where patrons can check out a real live person for 30 minutes of face-to-face conversation. These discussions are intended to answer questions for the curious, satisfy special interests and beliefs and learn from another's experience and expertise.

We would like to celebrate the Canton community's diversity, share ideas, dispel stereotypes and pass along expertise. So, if you have an interest, like Civil War re-enactment or horticulture, or a particular expertise, like pie baking or as a game developer, or an experience, like hiking the Appalachians or converting to Islam, and want to share, please call Marcia at 734-397-0999 x1079 or email barkerm@cantonpl.org to learn more about the process. Help us put together a great community resource.

OUR INTERNET BRANCH IS ALWAYS OPEN:

ADULT

Book A Librarian

Get one-on-one assistance from a librarian on reference projects, Internet use or other library services. Make an appointment and our librarians can help you post a resume to a job hunt site, learn to navigate the Web and set up email, obtain in-depth reference assistance, research a health topic, learn to use a database, and more. It's your own private consultation with a reference librarian. Ask at the Reference Desk to set up your appointment.

May We Suggest...

Looking for something new to read? You can receive your own personalized list of reading suggestions prepared by a Canton Public Library librarian with our new May We Suggest service. Just fill out the online form at www.cantonpl.org/may-we-suggest and you'll receive a list of recommendations based on your interests. You can also visit the May We Suggest blog for other reading suggestions.

INTERNET

Community Forum Now Online

Looking for a place to publicize your event? Want to participate in a discussion on community topics? Have an item you'd like to sell? You can do it all on CPL's new online community forum. Visit the library website at www.cantonpl.org/forum. Create a user account and start posting. You can rate businesses and services, or talk up your event or group or express your opinion. Business owners can create a business profile under Everything Canton. Just fill out the online form at www.cantonpl.org/everything-canton. Your searchable listing will contain a map and clickable link to your webpage. It's easy, free and a great way to get your news out to the Canton community.

Text This, Tweet That

Put technology to work for you at the library. Now you can send a text message to your phone with the Call Number and Title of the item you're viewing in our catalog. This is useful if you don't want to write it down or want to save it for later.

You can also Tweet items of interest from our website with a simple mouse click. Look for the Twitter icon next to blog posts and sign in with your Twitter account to send it to your followers. You can follow the Canton Public Library on Twitter also. Just search for @cantonlibrary.

Homework and School Resources HQ

If you are looking for one place to go for all your homework needs, just visit www.cantonpl.org/ya/homework.html on the CPL site. Our librarians have compiled the most trustworthy and useful resources out there to help you make quick work of homework. Unfortunately, we've had to discontinue our Tutor.com service due to budgetary and service concerns, but there are plenty of ways to solve your homework dilemmas. You're just a click away at www.cantonpl.org/ya/homework.html.

Welcome Tweens!

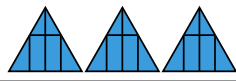

For some students, the new school year means a transition to the Tween area of the library. So, if you are one of the lucky ones now in fifth or sixth grade, make sure you stop by Tween Scene and see what it's all about. We've got special programs and book discussions just for you, special computers just for you and our Tween librarians can help you make age appropriate choices in reading, viewing and listening material. We hope to see you in Tween Scene soon.

Storytime Program Changes

In an effort to make storytime more enjoyable and accessible, the library has added a variety of storytime options. Please refer to page 6 of the newsletter for actual program dates and times.

- Children under the age of two will be split into groups: Walkers and Non-walkers. This division will help us better provide age appropriate activities.
- In an effort to accommodate busy schedules, we have offered more spaces in popular storytime sessions. Storytimes with an * will be held in the Community Room and will seat 100 participants. Storytimes held in the Purple Room will seat 30 participants.
- If you'd like to bring all your children to one storytime session, you are invited to try our Family Storytime. This program will have a variety of activities for the whole family.
- After each storytime session, there will be an unregistered ABC Activity Time. This will give you more chances to explore with your children as well as make new friends.
